What is Circular Innovation Lab?

Circular Innovation Lab is a Danish think tank focused on connecting, collaborating, and creating exciting circular economy solutions, with emerging stakeholders, to accelerate the transition towards a circular economy. Our founders are former experts from the United Nations and the Ellen MacArthur Foundation, who have the vision of spreading the circular economy movement, through our circular economy solutions

We are experts in developing strategies to implement circular economy-based solutions and offer consulting, training, tools, and technical assistance for governments, businesses, and cities. We believe in an interdisciplinary approach to addressing the challenges that exist when it comes to the implementation and scale-up of the circular economy. We have specific expertise in National Circular Economy Roadmaps, plastics, textiles, agriculture, vehicle manufacturing, cement, electronics, material efficiency, circular economy, and climate change.
