Company: WSAudiology

Location: Denmark

Category: other-general

Driven by the passion to improve quality of people's lives, WS Audiology continues to grow as market leader in the hearing aid industry. With our commitment to increase penetration in an underserved hearing care market, we want to accelerate our business transformation in order to reach more people, more effectively.

In this role you will be part of a truly global environment and be part of our Strategic Procurement team. You will be given the possibility to work cross functionally within WS Audiology and learn project management as a method to drive project initiatives, e.g. cost optimization, design/process improvement and value enhancement.

What you will do

Support project management activities driven by Category Managers and Specialists

Track and follow up on task status with task owners

Analyze critical data to enable project completion

The working hours are 20 hours a week, with natural flexibility around exam periods and the alike.

What you bring

You might be studying a bachelor's degree or have just started your master's degree in Engineering.

We do not expect you to have any previous working experience but value the right personality and are therefore looking for the following in you

Strong analytical and a structured mindset

Ability to focus on many different tasks and projects

Strong Excel and Powerpoint skills

Proactive and self driven

Fluent in English, both spoken and written

Personal competencies

Curiosity and eagerness to learn as we value individuals who proactively engage in continuous learning and bring a dynamic mindset to our team

Exhibit attention to detail, as precision and thoroughness are integral to the success of our projects.

Logical approach to problem solving, as this key competency is essential for addressing complex challenges and driving effective solutions within our team.
